Trade Has Been Discussed.

There is not any doubt that Griffith and Navin have discussed a trade for Ty Cobb. There is very little doubt that Ty Cobb. There is very little doubt that Cobb wil play somewhere else than with Detroit next year, if he plays ball at all. There is not any doubt that Navin would be glad to sell Cobb if he can get his price, and the only reason that would keep Griffith from buying him is because that price is too high.

Nobody but Griffith and Navin know the real inside of the negotiations of the the real inside of the negotiations of the past two or three days, and it is not believed that either one of them has yet told a frankly complete story of their discussion of Cobb's possible transfer. There is one times, however, that is absolutely certain, the sale of Ty Could to the Nationals, if it had been completed this week, with all the attendant publicity of a $100,000 offer, would have been the biggest and best advertised baseball deal that was ever pulled off, and the Washington management, it is was to blame for the deal's not going
